A suit on notes was filed by W. M. Johnston against Allie R. Bradley and Jessie L. Bradley.

Mrs. R. H. Bradley Dies at St. Francis Hospital

Mrs. R. H. Bradley of Ravenwood, 60 years old, died at 12:40 o'clock last night at St. Francis Hospital where she was admitted Wednesday evening. She had been ill of uremic poisoning for about three weeks. Arrangements for the funeral will not be completed until after the arrival of a son, Roy Bradley of New York City, tomorrow evening. The services probably will be held Monday afternoon at the house.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Bradley is survived by seven children, Mrs. Nellie Keim, Ravenwood; Mrs. Edna Wilson, Guilford; Hallie, Myrtle and Robert Bradley at home; Roy Bradley, New York City; and Fred Bradley, Wichita, Kan. She is also survived by one brother, Arthur Smith.

EUREKANS WIN; SO DO THE PHILOS

FIGURES DIFFER IN COLLEGE SOCIETY CONTESTS

4 FIRSTS FOR PHILOS

Eurekans Get Only 3 Firsts, But Tied For First In Ranking By Points

The Philomathean Literary Society won first in the annual inter-society literary contests at the College that closed last night. So did the Eurekans, or at least they tied for first place. Both can prove their contentions. The Philos won four firsts, the Eurekans, three, and Excelsiors, two, which, of course, give the Philomatheans a victory. But in the ranking, giving points for the first second and third places, the Eurekans received fourteen points and the Philos fourteen. The Eurekans, saying this is a fairer and more accurate way of judging the contests, claim a tie for first place. The contests have been awarded by firsts in the past. The best the Democrat-Forum can say is that both won.

In last night's contests the Eurekans won two firsts and the Philos won two firsts. The Eurekan debating team, composed of Jack Sheley and Robert Nicholas, upholding the negative of the question, Resolved: That an immediate increase in the navy is imperative, the Excelsior team, composed of Harold Tebow and Frank McCombs by a two to one decision.

In declamation, Lillian Hall of the Philos won first place, Mabel Raines of the Eurekans won second, and Helen Tebow of the Excelsiors, third. Miss Hall and Miss Raines were tied in rank but Miss Hall ranked first in percentage.

In the music contests the Eurekans quintet composed of Ruth Miller, Mabel Raines, Helen Miller, Helen Manifold and Marie Cloud, won first place. The Philo quartet, composed of Josephine Miller, Grace Foster Orpha Stewart and Hanna Houston won second place.

In the essay contest, winners of which were announced last night, Alma Morris of the Philos won first an her essay, "Status of the American Negro." Neita Frances Ham, Eurekan won second on "Spirit of Thrift," and Ethel Kaufman of the Excelsiors won third on "Americanism."

Up until the contests last night the Excelsiors were leading by a two point margin in ranking system. In the ranking, in which the lower number of points represented the highest ranks, the Pihlos and Eurekans received fourteen points and the Excelsiors, seventeen.

The judges in the literary contests last night were O. L. Curl, Fred Wolfers and L. L. St. Clair. The judges in the music contests were Mrs. O. L. Curl, Mrs. Fred Wolfers and Mrs. L. L. St. Clair.

The judges in the essay contest were: Mrs. J. Frank Reed, head of the English department of Missouri Wesleyan College; J. Pierce Harvey, head of the English department of William Jewell College; Miss Laura Hawkins of the Maryville High School.

Frost Predicted Tonight.

Frost is predicted for tonight according to a warning received this afternoon by J. R. Brink, weather observer. The weather forecast is for cooler weather tonight and warmer tomorrow. The rainfall last night measured .87 of an inch.

BAPTIST STUDENTS IN MUSIC PROGRAM

SPECIAL NUMBERS DIRECTED BY MRS. L. L. ST. CLAIR

AT 8 P. M. TOMORROW

Program Includes Vocal Instrumental and Orchestra Numbers—S. S. Contest Progresses

A special musical program will be given tomorrow night at the First Baptist Church by the Baptist students of the State Teachers College and Maryville High School. The program will be under the direction of Mrs. L. L. St. Clair, with Mrs. Harry Miller directing the Sunday school orchestra and Miss Josephine Miller and Miss Hettie Mae Woodward at the piano.

In the morning the pastor, the Rev. J. A. Cooper, will speak upon the subject, "To Carry or To Be Carried." Tomorrow will be the third Sunday of the hundred per cent attendance contest in the Sunday school. From the fine showing last Sunday it was evidenced that there will be a real race between the classes and departments as to who will be the winner during the five Sundays in April. Mr. Cooper will give the second of his series of studies on "How We Got the Bible," to the men's organized Bible class. The B. Y. P. U. will meet at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening, half an hour later than usual. Church services will begin at 8 p. m. The following is the musical program for evening services:

Majestic overture, (Zamecnik), Sunday school orchestra.

Hymn

Invocation

Hymn

"Light at Eveningtide," (Maley), Miss Irene Lowry.

"The Heavens Resound," (Beethoven), Chorus.

"Crossing the Bar," (Dudley Buck), Zona Robertson.

Selection, high school boys' quartet.

Hymn

Scripture reading and announcements.

Offertory, "Supplication," (Davids), orchestra.

"The Land Is My Light," (Alisten), Miss Marie Cloud.

Violin solo, "Serenade," (G. Gierne) Miss Maude Kibbe.

"Consider the Lillies" (Topliff), Miss Alyce Allen.

"I Will Lay Me Down in Peace," Miss Marie Cloud and Miss Mabel Raines.

"Send Out Thy Light," (Gounod), Chorus.

"Traumder Sennerin," (Labitzky), violin, basson and piano.

Hymn

Benediction.

Postlude, "Hosanna," (Zamecnik), orchestra.

Presbyterians to Install Officers

Rev. Allison to Start Special Series of Sermons—Special Music Tomorrow.

The Presbyterian church Sunday will observe the Lord's Supper in the morning. There will also be reception of members and the installation of officers. L. H. Evans, elected by the last congregational meeting as elder, will be ordained.

Immediately after this service there will be a brief called meeting of the congregation.

At 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening a new plan for Sunday evening service will be inaugurated. L. A. Richman the music director, will have complete charge of the first half hour. He intends to stress the singing by the congregation of the old well-known songs, and to provide every Sunday a special musical program by the choir.

A series of twenty minute sermons is announced by the pastor, Rev. S. P. Allison, for the spring weeks. The general subject is "What It Means to Be a Christian." The aim is to enable Christian people to give a real statement of what they believe, and why. For Sunday, "Christianity—A Wonderful Way of Living," is the theme. The second sermon will be April 22 and will be "Becoming Aware of God."

The musical program by the choir Sunday will include "No Shadows Yonder" from the oratoria, "The Holy City" and "Te Deum in F" by George Thomkins. In addition there will probably be a solo or duet.

Excelsior School Wins Hopkins Meet

Over 500 Present at Basket Dinner Yesterday—Thompson of Plum Grove, High Point Man.

The Excelsior rural school yesterday won first place in the rural school track meet held yesterday at Hopkins under the auspices of the Hopkins school. The Unity school was second and the White Cloud tracksters were third. There were twelve rural schools entered in the meet. Thompson of Plum Grove was the dark horse of the meet, winning the individual honors.

A rural school exhibit was also held at the school and Unity, Pickering, White Cloud and Plum Grove were the outstanding winners in these events. W. H. Burr and Mrs. L. E. White of the Teachers College judged these exhibits.

Over 500 persons participated in the "eats" at noon when the basket dinner was served. President Uel W. Lamkin of the College, spoke at the meeting in the afternoon and Bert Cooper spoke at the meeting in the morning.

MARYVILLE PLACES SIXTH AT TRENTON

SIX LOCAL TRACKSTERS WIN PLACES

TRENTON WINS THE MEET

Johnson of Slater Individual Point Man and Wins Second Place Cup —Some Records Broken

The Maryville High School track team, with one first, two ties for third and four fourth places, won sixth place in the eleventh annual invitation track and field meet held at the fair grounds in Trenton yesterday afternoon.

Maryville's lone first came when John Smith stepped the half in two minutes, ten and three-fifths seconds. Smith was not pressed or the time might have been better.

In the pole vault Roelofson lost a tie for first by disqualifying himself on a passed height and was forced to be content with a tie for third.

The other Maryville men to place were: Miller in the 440, Cockayne in the 220, Roelofson in the high hurdles, Aley in the low hurdles and Kissinger in the high jump.

Trenton won the meet with 38½ points, winning both relays and setting a new mark in the mile relay of three minutes, 48 1-5 seconds, the old time being 3 minutes, 52 2-5 seconds.

Two other records fell in the meet, the quarter record falling from 55 2-5 seconds to 55 seconds and the mark for the mile being lowered from 5 minutes, 1 4-5 seconds to 5 minutes and 1 second.

J. B. Johnson of Slater won individual honors with four firsts and incidentally won for his school second place in the meet. Johnson was the only Slater entrant.

The following is the order in which the different schools finished. Eight teams failed to score a point.

Trenton	38½
Slater	20
Newark	19
Blanchard	13
Higginsville	12
Maryville	11½
Milan	10
Maysville	9
Kidder	9
Bethany	9
Plattsburg	7½
Gault	2½
Green City	2
Jameson	1

Stanley Pence was appointed administrator of the estate of Jacob H. Miller of Clearmont who died March 30.

U. S. MAY QUIT THE SHIPPING BUSINESS

HARDING AND ADVISERS DECIDE TO SELL IF THEY CAN

MUST HAVE FAIR PRICE

If Impossible To Obtain a Fair Price Board Can Do Nothing But Continue Business

Washington, April 14. — "The government will get out of the shipping business if it can find purchasers for its ships and lines, if not it will continue in the business with as much economy as possible."

This decision was made today at a conference of President Harding, Chairman A. D. Lasker of the shipping board and the entire personnel of the board. The decision was announced as unanimous.

The agreement reached by the board provides for the immediate offering for sale all foreign trade lines with a provision that routes be maintained if a fair and just price can be secured. If a "fair price cannot be obtained then Harding and his shipping advisors have concluded that nothing is left for them to do but continue government operation under the provisions of the Jones Law.

Mexican Health Conditions Bad

Laredo, Tex., April 14—Surgeon-General Hugh S. Cumming of the United States Public Health Department, arrived here today following a trip of inspection of health condition along the Mexican borders. General Cumming said that the conditions in Mexico were such to warrant extra precaution being taken against the yellow fever here during the summer.

Mrs. Logan Wood and little son, Byron, came at noon today to visit over the week end at the homes of Misses Helen Hopkins and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hudson.

Many Odd Fellows Go to Savannah

A large number of Odd Fellows from Maryville went to Savannah yesterday to attend the convention of the Northwest Missouri Odd Fellows Association. The session last night lasted far into the morning as all four degrees were given. Among those from Maryville who attended were: Dr. S. S. Murdock, Frank Orcutt, Marion Smith, Harry King, W. D. Williams, Andy Cook, Dr. K. R. Malotte, Joseph Cornell, Amos Sprecher and the Rev. R. E. Snodgrass, who was on the program. Mrs. Marion Smith attended the Rebekahs meeting held at the same time, as a delegate from the lodge here.

The next meeting of the association will be held at Stewartsville in September.

HEPBURN CHOSEN INSURANCE HEAD

HOPKINS MAN RE-ELECTED FOR 28TH YEAR AS PRESIDENT.

LOSSES WERE $16,632

The Total Amount of Insurance in Force Is $7,813,101—Balance on Hand Is $25,835.37.

James L. Hepburn of Hopkins was re-elected as president of the board of directors of the Nodaway County Farmers Mutual Fire and Lightning Insurance Company at their annual meeting held in Maryville this afternoon. Mr. Hepburn has been president of the board for the past twenty-eight years.

C. D. Hooker of Maryville was re-elected as vice-president; Judge William Woods of Burlington Junction as treasurer; and Miss Iuka V. Shiel as secretary. Three directors, B. M. Willson of Barnard, C. E. Donlin of Hopkins, and Mr. Hooker were all re-elected to succeed themselves. The other members of the board in attendance were: R. B. Gex, Graham; J. S. Casteel, Ravenwood; W. M. Blackford, Clearmont; Dr. E. W. Bishop, Ravenwood.

The report of the insurance company for the year ending April 14, 1923, gives the amount of insurance in force as $7,813,101. The losses during the year were $2,987 from lightning and $13,645.95 for fire, making a total of $16,632.95. The balance in the treasury to date is $25,835.37.

International Health Board Doctor Is Here

Dr. F. L. Roberts, of the International Health Board of New York, arrived in Maryville yesterday for a visit with Dr. C. P. Fryer to inspect the health work being done in Nodaway County. Dr. Roberts visited a few schools in the county yesterday and was well pleased with the work being done here. He will be here until Wednesday when he will leave to observe the work being done at Sedalia.

Judge Clamps Down Lid in Gary, Ind.

Indianapolis, April 14—"I'll shut up the whole town of Gary if we have to, to stop liquor violations," Judge Albert Anderson said today after he had issued an order closing up four hotels for one year.

"I'm not going to get after the bootleggers and blind tiger operators and let the owners off," the judge continued. The hotels closed were in Jefferson. Fifty-five officials, politicians and other men of Gary and Lake County are awaiting the federal court ruling upon their plea for a new trial following their convictions to conspire to violate the liquor laws.

Leave for Home.

A. J. Anderson of Chugwater, Wyo., and his sister, Mrs. Flora Lowry of Blandinsville, Ill., left this morning for their homes after a two weeks' visit at the home of their brother, Henry Anderson, near Graham. Mrs. Lowry accompanied Mr. Anderson as far as Omaha and will visit relatives there and in Sioux City before returning home. Mr. Anderson came to Maryville April 1 with the body of his wife, who was buried here April 2.

Summoned by Father's Illness

M. A. Peery went to St. Joseph this morning where he was summoned by the serious illness of his father, J. B. Peery.

JAPANESE IGNORE A U. S. ADMIRAL

WHEN AMERICAN FLEET HEAD WAS IN YOKOHAMA.

CONSPIRACY OF SILENCE

American in Tokio Charge That Papers Conspired—Act No Less Than An Insult.

Tokio, April 14—Charging a "conspiracy of silence," amounting to no less than in insult to Admiral Edwin Anderson, commander of American Asiatic fleet, prominent American in Tokio, led by the Japan Advertiser, American newspaper today asserted a conspiracy of concerned action of entire Tokio press in failing to mention Admiral Anderson during his week's stay in Yokohama.

Admiral Anderson's visit followed the visit of Admiral Leveson, chief of the British Asiatic fleet, and the contrast in greetings was marked. Admiral Leveson was given an audience by the prince regent and all honors given him by the press, pictures being taken depicting his daily movements.

When attention was called today to officials that Admiral Anderson was not granted an audience by the prince regent, it was explained that the court was in mourning over Prince Kita Shirakawa's death in France when the admiral arrived. The prince departed for Formosa immediately after the period of mourning, it was maintained and was impossible to arrange an audience. The Japan Advertiser said today in commenting upon the situation:

"It is not often that the Japanese are rude to a friendly stranger within its gates and seldom does the enlightened press fail to reflect the feelings of the people. Both were changed by the strange silence maintained last week. The silence of contempt is well known in the Orient and Occident."

Another De Valera Aid Is Captured

Boston Stack is Taken by Free Staters—Mountains Swept Clean of Irregulars, Claimed

Dublin, April 14—Boston Stack, one of Eamon De Valera's republican lieutenants, was captured near Klonmel today. Stack was a former member of the Irish delegation that negotiated the Anglo-Irish pact in London, but later deserted the Free State forces and cast his lot with the irregulars.

Despite the vigorous search of Free State troops, aided by airplanes, De Valera has apparently escaped into hiding into the Tipperary mountains according to unofficial information from the Free State headquarters here today.

The whole mountain district has been swept from end to end by six columns of Free State troops under General Prutt. Many secret hiding places of irregulars were found and many were captured but De Valera was not among them. Free State troops sent out word that not a single irregular was hiding in the mountains so thorough was their drive.

"The mountains are swept clean," said General Prutt. "Heavy rains in the mountains are making farther search difficult.

Westminster Boarding House Is Closed

Kansas City, April 14—The Westminster Boarding home, which has sheltered more than 1,000 women, who came here from small towns of the southwest, to "pay their own way," within the last decade has closed permanently.

The home was established in 1912, primarily for the purpose of affording young business women a dwelling abode with many comforts of a real home, according to Mrs. E. A. Forbes, former matron. During its lengthy period of helpfulness, the home was conducted under the auspices of a group of local church women and for some time has been self-supporting.

Its close was brought about in pursuance with an order of the owner of the property, who wishes to dispose of it.

THE WEATHER.

Fair tonight and Sunday; cooler tonight in the west portion, probably frost tonight; somewhat warmer Sunday afternoon in the northwest portion.

HEALTH AND ACHIEVEMENT

Prominent among modern psychological movements, are various so-called health cults, which seek to improve peoples' physical conditions by correcting faults in their mental attitude. One would need to be a specialist in mental science to discuss these questions adequately.

Without going into controverted questions, it is evident that the state of a man's mind has a great influence over his body. The man who is worrying about some business or family matter sits down to his dinner table with a feeling of oppression and constraint. He does not feel the best appetite and it is only with difficulty that he can get down a meager fraction of his usual allowance of food.

If now while he is sitting at the table in this cheerless way, the postman brings him a letter containing good news, and showing that the fears he had been entertaining are groundless, not merely is his mental attitude changed, but his body is instantly affected. Within five minutes he is attacking his roast beef with renewed relish, and he will put down a good dinner.

If a bit of good news can produce such radical change, he should be able to put himself on a permanently higher level physically, if he can get his mind in a serene and confident state by which he can throw off worry and look forward to the future in a sanguine way. He will be able to do more work and do it more intelligently. His prospects in life will be greatly improved. He will seem more attractive and persuasive to the people he meets, and will be able to carry on business and industry with double the efficiency and success.

The first step along the path in the psychology of success, then, is to conquer the fears and worries that destroy the efficiency of a multitude of people.

The hardest work some fellows do is in telling how hard they work.

Bootleg liquor may hurt the fellow's eyes who drinks it, but it helps everybody else to see his finish.

This is the time of year to begin thinking about cultivating those vacant lots. The best way to keep weeds and unsightly and unhealthy growth down is to make something grow that is worthwhile. Why not plant potatoes or something like that in all the vacant lots? A cultivated crop of anything will look better than a crop of weeds and will be worth something when the season is over.

"Our Young Peoples Conference"

Say folks we had some conference,
Or you might'a called it fun,
For we had a dandy banquet,
And we came in on the run.

The ladies surely served us
With the best o' food and drink,
And I'll bet there wasn't one
Who came away a feelin' lank.

We had some good old 'tatters,
And a lot o' pie and cake,
With some salad and some dressing
Like the women always make.

We finished that good dinner,
Didn't even leave a scrap—
Then settled down to business
To put Nodaway on the map.

There were songs and yells a plenty,
Pageants, readings—speeches too.
Of course the boys were many,
But the girls weren't few.

So we had a little contest
Between the boys you see.
To find who could get twelve dates
In three minutes—only three!

Some made more, and others less,
For some boys, as you know,
Are kinda sorter bashful—
Some people call it slow.

Well now about the speeches;
They sure had a lot o' pep,
And if ever one does better,
They're gonna have to step.

The "Great Chief" picked some soldiers
"Dog Soldiers"—just a few,
And we were fairly warned:
"Be careful what you do."

The second day was better,
There was a monstrous crowd—
Enough to fill the building,
And it surly made us proud.

And the day dawned so serenely
That we wondered how we'd look,
If we all could get together
And have our pictures took.

So sure enough we did it,
Had 'em taken in a group,
Tho some were pessimistic,
Said, "They'll not be worth a whoop."

But after they were finished,
And scrutinized with care,
Each one was heard to comment:
"I'm the best one of 'em there."

Then about five o'clock that evening,
As we always do of course—
We had a bacon fry and ice cream,
And yelled 'till we were hoarse.

Next, after that was over
We beat it back to town,
Where we had our council circle.
And everybody gathered roun'.

Some were called before the dog court
For committing some sort of sin.
They were tried, some were guilty
And were punished with a pin.

I guess that's all about the conference,
At least tha't all I have to say—
So I'll end my little narrative,
But hope we'll meet another day.

Guests At Colbert Home

Herschel Colbert, editor of the Gallatin Democrat, is expected this evening for a week-end visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Colbert. Mrs. Walter Cranough of Indianapolis Ind., a cousin of Mrs. Colbert, is also a week-end guest at the Colbert home. Mrs. Cranough arrived in Maryville today from Des Moines, Ia., where she had been attending the fourth annual meeting of the National League of Women Voters.

What of America?

Shall This Government Live or Die?

The new king (George III), having the most exalted notion of his own authority, and being, from his miserable education, entirely ignorant of public affairs, thought that to tax the Americans for the benefit of the English would be a masterpiece of policy.—Thomas Henry Buckle, History of Civilization in England.

XI.

The King Decides to Teach America a Lesson.

The colonies followed up the action of the Stamp Act congress by forming associations to boycott English goods, and non-importation agreements came everywhere into effect. The English merchants were struck with dismay. To them a colony was a market, and nothing else. A closed market meant loss and ruin. They promptly brought pressure on parliament, and that body found itself between two fires. It met the situation by the adoption of a policy characteristic of the statesmanship of the times. It repealed the Stamp act to placate the clamoring traders at home, and at the same time passed a declaratory act asserting its right to tax the colonies if it wanted to. No principle was settled.

Parliament had acted as the ancient kings sometimes acted when put in a corner. They sometimes made concessions "of grace." By that they meant "I'm not doing this because I have to, but because I'm good natured. Now, run away and play."

Parliament was not long in testing its asserted powers. It soon passed an act to raise revenue on certain articles imported by the colonies, and to use this money to pay the salaries of colonial officials appointed by the crown. This was not only to tax the colonies, but to deprive them of the election and control of their own officials. The English government called this a civil list. The Americans saw in it the destruction of self government, and a pension roll, which they were to pay.

At the same time the king's government decided to punish New York for refusing to make provision for the maintenance of an English garrison, and suspended its legislature. As the other colonies had been making it as difficult as possible for the king's troops to find quarters, this action was a notice of what all might expect.

In Massachusetts Samuel Adams, whom the English and Tories called "Master Sam," in allusion to his early occupation, drew up a petition to the king which the assembly adopted, and urged the other colonies to support. This petition excited the indignation of the king, and the assembly was instructed to withdraw it. This it refused to do, and the assembly was suspended.

The Virginia burgesses suffered the same fate when the adopted resolutions aimed at parliament's taxing power.

The colonies were now in active correspondence; their attitude was resolute; the suspended assemblies came together again as popular conventions and a strong agitation continued everywhere against the new taxes and the presence of troops.

In the face of this opposition the ministers again tried their previous experiment; they decided to repeal the taxes but retain the principle. With this view they notified the colonies the port duties would be lifted on all the articles that had been named in the new act, except on tea. Tea was excepted to assert the principle. The colonies retorted by asserting a principle of their own, and refused to drink tea. A cargo sent to Boston was seized by some persons who were dressed like Indians but acted like Bostonians, and thrown overboard.

The English crown got $1,500 a year from this tax on tea and lost thirteen colonies.

Conflicts between citizens and soldiers now became frequent wherever the troops were quartered, the feeling culminating in what came to be known throughout the colonies as the "Boston Massacre" when a clash in the streets of that town resulted in the death of five civilians.

The clear fact that now must be recognized is that King George and those in his government who passed by the name of the "king's friends" were angry and had made up their minds, as a British historian puts it, to pay the colonies out. They meant to punish them. They proceeded to introduce in parliament, and parliament proceeded to pass with the most amazing levity, a series of penal measures against Boston and Massachusetts. The port was closed and additional regiments of troops sent to the city. The colony's charter was forfeited and in its place was instituted arbitrary crown rule. Town meetings were abolished. Juries were to be drawn by sheriffs who owned their places to the crown's favor. Citizens were, in specified cases, to be transported to England for trial, on the ground that justice was obstructed in the colony, notwithstanding that Boston had just given a signal illustration of the quality of its justice by acquitting, at the hands of a jury of its own citizens, the commanding officer of the troops that had fired on the people.

These penal measures, by which the king's government tossed away the fairest portion of the British empire, were put through a house of commons that jeered at and howled down the few voices that were raised in protest. George himself complacently fancied he had settled the whole vexing business. He had been talking to General Gage, who had assured him the Americans would yield.

"He says," the king wrote to Lord North, "they will be lyons whilst we are lambs; but if we take the resolute part, they will undoubtedly prove very weak."

"Blows," said the obstinate king, "must decide."

Blows did.

One of the ever-blooming spring poets says in regard to spring: "She's tuning in." We only hope that she'll get rid of that winter static before long!

"Looks Like a Hard Winter This Spring"—headline. And it hasn't been long since we were using this greeting: "Having a nice spring this winter."

A news story informs us that a still and two hundred gallons of "hooch" were confiscated near the summit of Pike's Peak. Wonder if the price of the "stuff" was affected by its coming down.

Mary Ann Belinda Jones says that following the lines of least resistance is what makes men and rivers crooked.

"Mrs. Matthews Is Buried"—headline. We did not learn whether the kind lady died or not!

"Turkey Goes Totally Dry Under Kemalist Orders," is the message conveyed in one headline. Oh, undoubtedly! Probably as dry as a desert!

Our reading of the metropolitan papers the other day brought this item to our attention: "A new fast train running between Berlin and Moscow which will make the trip in 36 hours is promised soon." Well, Russia has been called "a land of promises," hasn't it?

The boy next door says he doesnt see why Europe doesn't hock the Kaiser and pay her war debts.

One of the surest signs of spring is seeing Mrs. Middleriver, the lady on the next street out in the back yard with a rag tied around her head, and beating all of last winter's dust out of the family carpets.

"Tut!" What hats, gloves and shoes we do have, in a season's styles!

Uncle Bob told us the other day that he politely informed his wife, Denella that the vari-colored spring millinery had given him many new ideas for his flower garden.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook, former arctic explorer and reputed discoverer of the North Pole, and now oil promoter, made another discovery the other day. He was under arrest, charged with using the mails to defraud in his oil promotions!

Robinson Dinner Guests.

Mrs. James Fitzgerald and daughter of Tulsa, Okla., were dinner guests yesterday noon at Sunset Hill, the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Robinson. Mrs. Fitzgerald is a niece of Mrs. Robinson and has also been visiting her cousin, Mrs. Harry Harrison of Maryville. They came here Thursday night from Fairfax where they had been visiting relatives, and left yesterday afternoon for their home.

Met at Lloyd Home.

Fourteen members attended the April meeting of the Homemakers Class of the M. E. Church, South, at the home of Mrs. Eldon Lloyd on West Third street yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Herl S. Holt was the assisting hostess. During the business session plans for the annual bazaar to be given next fall were discussed. A radio musical program was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the hostesses. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Ellis were received as new members of the class.

"Lightning Justice" Is Served in W. Va.

Three Men Convicted For First Degree Murder in Five Days—One Sentenced to Death Already

Clarksburg, W. Va., April 14—A new brand of "lightning justice," was written across the legal records by the "mountain court" here today and as a result the third man in five days was convicted for responsibility in the black hand murders and violence here.

With a number of deputy sheriffs and policemen guarding, three men convicted of muredr are in jail awaiting a sentence of death as their share in the campaign of violence in West Virginia. Seven other men are in adjoining cells awaiting the fast work of the mountain justice.

"Nick" Salamente was sentenced to be hung this afternoon. He will be executed at the Moundsville state penitentiary on Friday June 22. When the sentence was read, he declared, "I will die innocent." The sentence was pronounced before a crowded courtroom.

Negotiations on for Sale of Coal Company

Bevier, Mo., April 14—Negotiations for the sale of the Central Coal and Coke company's properties are under way, according to a well-founded report here. The sum involved in the transportation is said to be around $11,000,000. At the present time it is said there is only a difference of $2,000,000, from closing the deal.

11-Year-Old Boy Will Finish School

Kansas City, Mo., April 14—Youthful friends of Angus McCallum, 11-year-old student, at the Bryan school, make the assertion that Angus will be the youngest pupil to be graduated this year from any of the grade schools of greater Kansas City.

The youngster doubts the superstition of thirteen. There are thirteen letters in his name and his birthday is November 13. The "boy wonder" as several of his associates refer to him has already announced his intention of entering the profession of surgery, when he completes his education. His burning ambition, as he expressed it, is to become one of the nation's prominent surgeons.

Lexington Has a Gasoline Tax of 1c

Lexington, Mo., April 14—Duplicating the action of Kansas City's legislative bodies, which recently approved the imposition of a cent and a half tax per gallon on gasoline, the city council of Lexington has passed an ordinance which requires the purchaser to pay a one cent per gallon tax. The new ordinance will become effective, May 15.

The revenue raised from this special tax will be donated to a bridge fund, city officials stated.

Phrases and Freezes.

In these days, when even the wax figures in the bargain sales windows look haggard and those who take themselves seriously are almost as popular as a fat man in a jitney, any little joke seems to magnify it. At a very enjoyable luncheon recently at Corodada, given for a lady of high social standing from the East, the guest of honor was heard to remark to her vis-a-vis, who had been springing French phrases rather plentifully on the general conversation, "Oh, Mrs. Dash I adore to hear you talk. All those little foreign words give your conversation such a Neapolitan sound!"

A fire wiped out one block of the principal part of Quitman April 4, causing a loss estimated at $45,000, partially covered by insurance. The fire started in a small barn owned by William Kraft. Ed E. Johnston is probably the heaviest loser, his loss amounting to $22,000, including building and contents. H. L. Givens' brick store building was the next heavy loss, amounting to $6,000. William Scruby & Co. stand a loss of $5,000. R. H. Smith's brick building and blacksmith shop was destroyed; loss about $2,000. The fire started about 1 a. m. and burned till early day, being fanned by a northwest wind.

J. B. Chamberlin, jeweler at Crane's for 28 years, has resigned the place and has gone to Cincinnati, Ohio, to make his home with his daughter, Mrs. Claude Snook.

The Sir Knights of Maryville Commandery No. 40 K. T. will attend Easter service next Sunday afternoon at the Presbyterian Church. Sermon by Rev. C. E. Kircher, the pastor.

D. E. Hotchkin has been made carrier on Route 1 from Maryville as the successor of Ernest Beech, resigned. There were four applicants. He made a grade of 97.

The millinery openings last Wednesday were gay and festive occasions. Mrs. D. J. Howell, the Yaple sisters, Mrs. G. E. Shelton and the firm of Gatewood & Price had announced their opening for that day. Millinery openings in Maryville are not common affairs but compare quite favorably with those in the city.

Communication

Editor Democrat-Forum:

Dear Sir: You have placed me under many obligations by your clever notice in yesterday's daily of my 18th business anniversary. However I beg a line or two in your paper to make a small correction. In your interview of yesterday, your reporter makes me say in substance that the reason there was no Democrat party ticket in the field at the date of the Republican Convention, Sept. 1866, was that the Democrats were all away from home in the rebel army. This statement if permitted to stand, might do violence to the feelings of some of our older worthy citizens. It is well known that the collapse of the Southern Confederacy occurred when Lee surrendered his army at Appomattox April 9, 1865. The confederate armies disbanded immediately so that at the date mentioned, 1866 there was no confederate army in existence. The statement attributed to me if true would be almost as sweeping and disrespectful as that one attributed to Horace Greely, editor of the New York Tribune, the leading republican news paper during the Civil war period, who in some of the bitter political contests when the Democratic organizations showed sympathy for the Confederacy. He is quoted as saying that "while it is true that all democrats are not horse thieves it is also true that all horse thieves are democrats."

But why as I started out to tell was there no democratic party ticket at the election in 1866. The state was at that time under the new or Drake Constitution adopted during the war which by its operation all those citizens who could not in conscience take the "test oath" administered to all voters that he had not participated in open rebellion or sympathized with those who had, was debarred from voting. As this class included all of the ex-Confederate soldiers and their sympathizers, quite a respectable body of citizens could not vote at the elections.

The futility of making a ticket is apparent. It was this question of the re-en franchisement of these citizens that rent the Republican State Convention of 1870 assunder and resulted in two republican tickets in the state at the election of that year, one known as the Liberal Republican, headed by Blwatz Brown for governor, favoring the re-en franchisement, won the election; the other faction, known as the radicals went down to defeat. This election won for Brown the vice-presidential nomination with Greely in 1872. The returned soldiers of the Union Army alligned themselves with the Liberal party, thus restoring to full political fellowship their late brothers in arms.

A little incident happened at out county election. Our fellow citizen and Comrade in the G. A. R., Judge I. K. Alderman was candidate for Probate Judge on the liberal republican ticket. His opponent on the radical ticket, D.L. Palmer, was on the first count of the ballots supposed to be elected and so elated over his supposed election was he that he rolled a big goods box out into the street, mounted it, called the bystanders about him, delivered a fine oration over the dead body of his political antagonist, Alderman, and at the same time thanked the voters for his election. Palmer went to the County Clerk's office next day to check over the votes which had not yet been certified and found an error of ten votes in his favor as shown by the returns. On eliminating these ten votes, he counted himself out and his antagonist, Alderman, had it. Had it not been for Palmer's discovery of the error which counted him out, our fellow townsman, Judge Alderman, may never have been a Judge at all. On such slender threads as these hang the destinies of men.

Respectfully,
NATHANIEL SISSON.

HARDWARE AND IMPLEMENT CO. LOWRY MARYVILLE, MISSOURI

Became An Important Dairy Center

Kansas City, Kan., April 14—Due largely to its civic pride and the refusal of its citizens to accept the dictums of fate, the municipality of Fort Scott, Kan., was saved from ruin and has now become one of the most important dairy centers in the United States.

This was the story related to the Kiwanis club of this city by C. B. Griffith, attorney general of Kansas, in an address delivered recently.

"When the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad shops were transferred from here to Parson, Kan.," Griffith said "the city resigned itself to its apparent doom. Fort Scott had depended upon these shops for its commercial importance. But the submissive resignation of the populace was short-lived.

"The young men of the city organized themselves into a Commercial club, and soon were urging citizens and farmers to utilize their resources.

"Farmers were admonished to use their grazing lands for the development of high grade dairy cattle. Other people were urged to handle dairy products. The Commercial club sponsored the movement for better roads and these were ultimately constructed, making it possible for farmers to bring their dairy products into the city with only slight difficulty."

And, today, Fort Scott is enjoying the fruition of its labors, Griffith pointed out. It is booming.

W. W. Gordon, newly elected mayor, also addressed the assemblage, confining his remarks to the necessity of law enforcement.

School Heads of Holt County Fight

Former Superintendent to Give Way to Woman Newly Elected.

Oregon, Mo., April 14.—When Mrs. Mary Guilliams, recently elected superintendent of the Holt County schools applied at the office to assume her duties, Norty Lily, who had been superintendent for the term just ended, refused to give her possession, alleging that Mrs. Guilliams, although having received a majority of votes at the recent election, does not possess the requisite qualifications to fill the office.

The campaign recently waged in Holt County for the office of county superintendent of schools was very spirited and considernble newspaper space was used to place the merits of the candidates before the voters.

Mrs. Guilliams lives at Craig and is one of the popular school teachers of that neighborhood. She won the election over Earl A. Rock by a majority of 608.

In qualifying, Mrs. Guilliams met all the following requiremeats: She had taught two terms of school out of the preceding four; she was 24 years old; was a citizen of the state and county; she possessed a first grade county teacher's certificate; she was legally elected.

Her bond was for $3,000.

Mr. Liley has taken the position that the certificate issued to her by Mrs. Alberta-Green Murphy, former county superintendent, was not in strict conformity to the law.

W. E. Bissett, county attorney, applied to the county court, and Philip Schlotzhauer and W. J. Glass, two members of the court, granted a temporary injunction restraining Mr. Liley from conducting the affairs of the office until the matter is settled in court.

In the meantime Mrs. Guilliams is the recognized county superintendent.

McCormick Sanctions Daughter's Marriage

Chicago, April 14—Further confirmation of the International News exclusive announcement yesterday of the wedding of Mathilde McCormick and Major Max Oser in England was discovered today in the form of a cablegram dispatche dby Harold McCormick, father of Mathilde to his wife, Ganna Waiska in Paris. The message revealed that the marriage took place on April 12 and also that Mathilde had the blessing of her father after all. The Harvester magnate has been persistently silent regarding the plans of his 18-year-old daughter and her 45-year-old suitor, but the cablegram to Ganna read:

"Mathilde married April 12. Such a happy day. Love." It was signed, "Harold," and is a denial that there has been an estrangement between McCormick and his operatic bride.

Rules for Teachers Training Certificates

Instructions Received by L. G. Somerville From Charles A. Lee, State Superintendent.

Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent of schools, has received a circular letter from Charles A. Lee, state superintendent of schools, setting out the rules and regulations for graduates of first class high schools for teacher training certificates.

The following are the rules and regulations:

Since sending out the circular letter relative to graduates of first class high schools, I find that it is imperative that we have the following rules and regulations governing same:

1. All students who receive the teacher training certificates this way must rank among the upper two-thirds of the class. This certificate will not be granted to inferior students.

2. The following units of high school work will be required of all students who expect to receive the Teacher Training Certificates by attending summer school in 1923. English four units, Mathematics two units, History two units, one of which must be American, High Sheool Agriculture, and Science, one unit.

All students who graduate from a first class high school the spring of 1923 with the above requirements may obtain the Teachers Training Certificates by going to summer school and making ten hours in Education. All persons who are taking the teacher training course now will finish their course the same as usual. The teacher training examinations will be held with the regular teachers examinations the first Friday and Saturday in June.

Beginning September 1, 1923, the following rules and regulations must be carried out in order that the high school graduates may go to summer school and receive the teacher training certificate.

1. All high school teachers must have 70 hours of College work and all grade teachers must have 40 hours of College work. These apply to all new teachers hired in the system. All teachers in the system now, may be re-employed even though they haven't the number of hours as stated above, provided they go to summer school and make at least 8 hours of work. This requirement does not disqualify anyone from holding their present position.

2. Before the starting of school this fall a definite course will be outlined for all high school students who expect to receive the Teachers Training Certificate by going to summer school to do their professional work.

Blind Man's Buff

EVEN in this age of enlightenment some folks spend their money blindly. They buy with their eyes shut. They grope in the dark as truly as if their eyes were bandaged.

And all the time a powerful light is being thrown on the very things they need and want!

Advertising is a beacon to guide you in buying. It shows you what to buy—where to buy—and when to buy. At the same time, it protects you against fraud and inferiority.

Merchants and manufacturers who advertise deliberately focus thousands of eyes upon their wares. Their values must be honest and their prices right, or they could not advertise successfully.

Don't play blind man's buff with the elusive dollar. Spend a few minutes each day running through the advertisements in this paper. Then buy the products that have proved up in the light of advertising.

O. A. Stanley, Sheridan Breeder "Barely Missed" Being a Lawyer

Sheridan, Mo.—It was about this time of year when a trunk was unloaded one bright, sunshiny day in front of a rooming house near an Iowa university. Students living there denied they had ordered a trunk. But the expressman was positive as to his instructions and left the trunk.

A few minutes later A. O. Stanley, law student, entered. His associates told ihm about the trunk.

"Sure," he said. "It's my trunk, I'm going home. I can't stay in school such weather as this."

It was thus that spring fever ruined a law student. For Stanley, now of Sheridan, Mo., went back to his father's farm and purebred livestock. He never could be lured from agriculture to oppressive law books again.

The elder Stanley traded some horses to the late C. C. Norton of Corning, Ia., for some purebred Shorthorns. Among them was a fine bull, then growing nicely, that came to the Stanley farm weighing 1400 pounds.

A Bull Responded to Good Care

To young Arthur the father entrusted the task of feeding that bull and fitting him for sale three months later. Theyoungster had the bull weighing 1,720 pounds. He topped the sale. Norton complimented the youth on his method of feeding. That settled it. Stanley knew he was going to grow purebred livestock.

In 1898 the family moved to Sheridan. A year later the young breeder bought four heifers and a good bull. The latter cost $550 a lot of money in those days, even for a good bull.

In three years eleven head of the get of that bull had been sold, the cheapest for $200 and one for $260. The herd thus started was dispersed in 1905 when Stanley bought the home farm and needed money.

But in a short time he was buying purebred stock again, getting good, but not fancy cows, and buying again a fine bull. That herd also proved profitable. Good bulls continued to improve it. In 1916 the entire herd was sold to Bellows Bros., Maryville, Mo., breeders.

Now Has His Third Herd

Then a third herd was assembled, still better blood being sought. It now numbers sixty head. Advance Marshall, later sold to Sni-a-Bar Farms, was bought to head it. It was bought at high prices; but it is making some money.

The prices brought by the Stanley bred animals tell the result of his efforts. His cattle brought the high money at the congress sale in Chicago a few years ago. Two years ago it brought the high average at the Central Sherthorn sale in Kansas City after winning the cups at the Central show preceding the sale. Last year his herd brought the high average without the cups. In the 1923 show his stock won championships and his bull brought the highest price at the sale.

Stanley has a son, 15 now in high school. Before he entered high school the father bought a heifer costing $400 for his son, telling the youngster that heifer would have to pay his way through school.

From Heifer Almost $2,000

The first calf was a heifer. Her second calf was the champion of the 1921 Central sale at Kansas City, bringing $800, the top price for the sale. The third calf solf for $510 in 1922. This year a junior calf sold for $175. The heifer that was the first calf meanwhile produced a roan bull that sold for $400. Her second calf was a heifer, increasing the female side of the herd to three head. That was in April 1922.

"That makes almost $1,885 realized from the sale of calves from that heifer besides the increasing of his herd to three times its original size," Stanley explained. "How many men could do that for their boys. And it can't help but give them an interest in good livestock."

The Stanley Shorthorns must be milk producers. The ultimate market for cattle is the farm. If the livestock standards are to be raised it must be done on the farm, he believes. And the farmer demands milk.

Breeders Must Consider Farmers

'At farm sales purebred cows that are known as good milkers bring almost double the prices paid for others," he said. "The breeders must look to the ideal farm cow. She must be a good milker."

According to men who attend the sales where Stanley's cattle are sold, the Stanley cattle always are good ones, always are well fitted and always bring good prices. The first two facts may have a bearing on the case.—Kansas City Star.

How Germans Try to Frustrate the French

In desperate attempt to frustrate efforts of the French occupants of the Ruhr, the coal barge shown here was sunk during the night in the Rohr canal near Bottrop to halt canal traffic. At the right is an exclusive picture of Mayor Schmid of Dusseldorf as he appeared the third week in the prison to which the French committed him.

Red Cross Spent 70 Millions for Soldiers

St. Louis, April 14—The American Red Cross spent a total of more than $70,000,000 for rendering service to American soldiers during the war, according to a statement received at the headquarters of the southwestern division here by manager Starr Cadawaller.

The largest amount was in 1918-1919, over $14,000,000 being spent by the national organization and $9,500,000 by the chapters. This has decreased gradually until 1922-1923, when the estimated figure is $2,440,000 expended by the national organization and $4,600,000 by the chapters. This statement was given out as a refutation of the charge that the Red Cross no longer is doing any work for former soldiers.

The same statement said that 26,000 veterans still in hospitals are served by the Red Cross and that this number will gradually increase until about 35,000 men will be under treatment in the Veterans' hospitals in the next two years.

The figures in regard to the number of ex-service men under treatment were obtained by the Red Cross from the United States Veterans' Bureau, an organization with which the Red Cross is in close co-operation.

Wanted
Rooms! Rooms!
Rooms! More Rooms!

600 to 800 beds will be needed to take care of the contestants during the "TRACK MEET," April 26, 27 and 28.

In order to have enough beds to take care of all of the contestants it will be necessary for Maryville people to open up their homes more generally than ever before.

Please phone in your list to the Chamber of Commerce, Hanamo 639, Farmers 120, if possible before next Wednesday, because we will turn this list over to the committee on assignments at the College, who will assign the rooms to the different schools, send the assignments to the Superintendent and notify you who has been assigned to your home.

It will save much confusion if you will arrange to have someone at home when trains arrive in Maryville.

Do not take people other than those for whom you have listed rooms for the College unless you have more beds for rent than those engaged for the contestants.

Price of rooms to be 50c per night for each occupant.

A CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN FOR CITY

PLANS FOR SUCH CAMPAIGN WILL BE TAKEN UP MONDAY.

ALSO TO BEAUTIFY TOWN

By Urging Residents to Put in Flowers, Shrubbery and Plant a Tree.

A campaign to clean up and beautify Maryville will be taken up at the weekly dinner of the Chamber of Commerce to be held Monday evening at the Bainum Hotel. At this meeting a day for the purpose of cleaning up the city will be set. Mayor W. O. Garrett and Councilmen Gus Romasser and Howard Strong will attend the dinner and will tell what the city will do about hauling off the rubbish and also about other beautification plans.

The purpose of the meeting is not only to discuss plans for cleaning up back yards but also to beautify front yards as well as parkways. Prof. C. C. Leeson, head of the biology department of the State Teachers College, Alfred Engelmann, Earl Kissinger and Geo. R. Murray will suggest plans for beautifying yards.

As the annual contests at the State Teachers College are only ten days off Maryville wants to present a good appearance to her many visitors who will be here at that time.

The various clubs of the city will be represented at the dinner and will take part in the discussion of plans for this campaign. The Rev. Joseph A. Cooper will preside at the meeting.

Editors Speak Highly of Maryville

Editor of Mound City and Editor Bennett of Bolckow Write About Chamber of Commerce Banquet

Editor Howard W. Mills of the Mound City News-Jeffersonian had the following this week about the annual banquet of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce:

Editors A. E. Aebersold of the Maitland Herald, and H. W. Mills, of the Mound City News-Jeffersonian, were guests of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce at their annual banquet Tuesday night. The event was a splendid success in every way and the Holt county editors can attest to the cordial hospitality which has been an important factor in putting Maryville on the map as a city that undertakes and does things on a big scale.

Dr. Waters, editor of the Kansas City Weekly Star, was the principal after dinner speaker, and gave a very inspiring, informative address. G. A. Pickens, the executive secretary of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce gave a brief report of the work accomplished by that body during the past and preceding years, and it is certainly a record of which any city may feel proud. Fred Wolfers, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presided in a very able and intertaining manner.

It is team work, organized and efficient, that makes good towns like Maryville, and this fine spirit of cooperation and service has benefited not only Maryville, but the whole of Nodaway county and northwest Missouri.

Editor J. I. Bennett of the Bolckow Herald had the following in his paper about the banquet:

The Herald man and son, Noel, were the guests of the Chamber of Commerce of Maryville at a banquet given by them Tuesday at the Residence Hall dining room of the State Teachers College. There were over 300 enjoyed the meal and besides a few short talks by toastmaster, F. R. Wolfers, secretary Geo. A. Pickens and Uel W. Lamkin, a splendid address was enjoyed from Dr. Henry J. Waters, editor of the Kansas City Weekly Star.

The Maryville Chamber of Commerce is composed of a live set of business men, and they have for their secretary, Geo. A. Pickens, a live wire and surely adapted for the position he holds. We enjoyed the occasion very much.

Mrs. R. H. Bradley Dies at St. Francis Hospital

Mrs. R. H. Bradley of Ravenwood, 60 years old, died at 12:40 o'clock last night at St. Francis Hospital where she was admitted Wednesday evening. She had been ill of uremic poisoning for about three weeks. Arrangements for the funeral will not be completed until after the arrival of a son, Roy Bradley of New York City, tomorrow evening. The services probably will be held Monday afternoon at the house.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Bradley is survived by seven children, Mrs Nellie Keim, Ravenwood; Mrs. Edna Wilson, Guilford; Hallie, Myrtle and Robert Bradley at home; Roy Bradley, New York City; and Fred Bradley, Wichita, Kan. She is also survived by one brother, Arthur Smith.

EUREKANS WIN; SO DO THE PHILOS

FIGURES DIFFER IN COLLEGE SOCIETY CONTESTS

4 FIRSTS FOR PHILOS

Eurekans Get Only 3 Firsts, But Tied For First In Ranking By Points

The Philomathean Literary Society won first in the annual inter-society literary contests at the College that closed last night. So did the Eurekans, or at least they tied for first place. Both can prove their contentions. The Philos won four firsts, the Eurekans, three, and Excelsiors, two, which, of course, give the Philomatheans a victory. But in the ranking, giving points for the first second and third places, the Eurekans received fourteen points and the Philos fourteen. The Eurekans, saying this is a fairer and more accurate way of judging the contests, claim a tie for first place. The contests have been awarded by firsts in the past. The best the Democrat-Forum can say is that both won.

In last night's contests the Eurekans won two firsts and the Philos won two firsts. The Eurekan debating team, composed of Jack Sheley and Robert Nicholas, upholding the negative of the question, Resolved: That an immediate increase in the navy is imperative, the Excelsior team, composed of Harold Tebow and Frank McCombs by a two to one decision.

In declamation, Lillian Hall of the Philos won first place, Mabel Raines of the Eurekans won second, and Helen Tebow of the Excelsiors, third. Miss Hall and Miss Raines were tied in rank but Miss Hall ranked first in pergentage.

In the music contests the Eurekans quintet composed of Ruth Miller, Mabel Raines, Helen Miller, Helen Manifold and Marie Cloud, won first place. The Philo quartet, composed of Josephine Miller, Grace Foster Orpha Stewart and Hanna Houston won second place.

In the essay contest, winners of which were announced last night Alma Morris of the Philos won first an her essay, "Status of the American Negro." Neita Frances Ham, Eurekan won second on "Spirit of Thrift," and Ethel Kaufman of the Excelsiors won third on "Americanism."

Up until the contests last night the Excelsiors were leading by a two point margin in ranking system. In the ranking, in which the lower number of points represented the highest ranks, the Pihlos and Eurekans received fourteen points and the Excelsiors, seventeen.

The judges in the literary contests last night were O. L. Curl, Fred Wolfers and L. L. St. Clair. The judges in the music contests were Mrs. O. L. Curl, Mrs. Fred Wolfers and Mrs. L. L. St. Clair.

The judges in the essay contest were: Mrs. J. Frank Reed, head of the English department of Missouri Wesleyan College; J. Pierce Harvey, head of the English department of William Jewell College; Miss Laura Hawkins of the Maryville High School.

Frost Predicted Tonight.

Frost is predicted for tonight according to a warning received this afternoon by J. R. Brink, weather observer. The weather forecast is for cooler weather tonight and warmer tomorrow.

The rainfall last night measured .87 of an inch.

BAPTIST STUDENTS IN MUSIC PROGRAM

SPECIAL NUMBERS DIRECTED BY MRS. L. L. ST. CLAIR

AT 8 P. M. TOMORROW

Program Includes Vocal Instrumental and Orchestra Numbers—S. S. Contest Progresses

A special musical program will be given tomorrow night at the First Baptist Church by the Baptist students of the State Teachers College and Maryville High School. The program will be under the direction of Mrs. L. L. St. Clair, with Mrs. Harry Miller directing the Sunday school orchestra and Miss Josephine Miller and Miss Hettie Mae Woodward at the piano.

In the morning the pastor, the Rev. J. A. Cooper, will speak upon the subject, "To Carry or To Be Carried." Tomorrow will be the third Sunday of the hundred per cent attendance contest in the Sunday school. From the fine showing last Sunday it was evidenced that there will be a real race between the classes and departments as to who will be the winner during the five Sundays in April. Mr. Cooper will give the second of his series of studies on "How We Got the Bible," to the men's organized Bible class. The B. Y. P. U. will meet at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening, half an hour later than usual. Church services will begin at 8 p. m. The following is the musical program for evening services:

Majestic overture, (Zamecnik), Sunday school orchestra.

Hymn

Invocation

Hymn

"Light at Eveningtide," (Maley), Miss Irene Lowry.

"The Heavens Resound," (Beethoven), Chorus.

"Crossing the Bar," (Dudley Buck), Zona Robertson.

Selection, high school boys' quartet.

Hymn

Scripture reading and announcements.

Offertory, "Supplication," (Davids), orchestra.

"The Land Is My Light," (Alisten), Miss Marie Cloud.

Violin solo, "Serenade," (G. Gierne) Miss Maude Kibbe.

"Consider the Lillies" (Topliff), Miss Alyce Allen.

"I Will Lay Me Down in Peace," Miss Marie Cloud and Miss Mabel Raines.

"Send Out Thy Light," (Gounod), Chorus.

"Traumder Sennerin," (Labitzky), violin, basson and piano.

Hymn

Benediction.

Postlude, "Hosanna," (Zamecnik), orchestra.

Presbyterians to Install Officers

Rev. Allison to Start Special Series of Sermons—Special Music Tomorrow.

The Presbyterian church Sunday will observe the Lord's Supper in the morning. There will also be reception of members and the installation of officers. L. H. Evans, elected by the last congregational meeting as elder, will be ordained.

Immediately after this service there will be a brief called meeting of the congregation.

At 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening a new plan for Sunday evening service will be inaugurated. L. A. Richman the music director, will have complete charge of the first half hour. He intends to stress the singing by the congregation of the old well-known songs, and to provide every Sunday a special musical program by the choir.

A series of twenty minute sermons is announced by the pastor, Rev. S. P. Allison, for the spring weeks. The general subject is "What It Means to Be a Christian." The aim is to enable Christian people to give a real statement of what they believe, and why. For Sunday, "Christianity—A Wonderful Way of Living," is the theme. The second sermon will be April 22 and will be "Becoming Aware of God."

The musical program by the choir Sunday will include "No Shadows Yonder" from the oratoria, "The Holy City" and "Te Deum in F" by George Thomkins. In addition there will probably be a solo or duet.

Excelsior School Wins Hopkins Meet

Over 500 Present at Basket Dinner Yesterday—Thompson of Plum Grove, High Point Man.

The Excelsior rural school yesterday won first place in the rural school track meet held yesterday at Hopkins under the auspices of the Hopkins school. The Unity school was second and the White Cloud tracksters were third. There were twelve rural schools entered in the meet. Thompson of Plum Grove was the dark horse of the meet, winning the individual honors.

A rural school exhibit was also held at the school and Unity, Pickering, White Cloud and Plum Grove were the outstanding winners in these events. W. H. Burr and Mrs. L. E. White of the Teachers College judged these exhibits.

Over 500 persons participated in the "eats" at noon when the basket dinner was served. President Uel W. Lamkin of the College, spoke at the meeting in the afternoon and Bert Cooper spoke at the meeting in the morning.

MARYVILLE PLACES SIXTH AT TRENTON

SIX LOCAL TRACKSTERS WIN PLACES

TRENTON WINS THE MEET

Johnson of Slater Individual Point Man and Wins Second Place Cup —Some Records Broken

The Maryville High School track team, with one first, two ties for third and four fourth places, won sixth place in the eleventh annual invitation track and field meet held at the fair grounds in Trenton yesterday afternoon.

Maryville's lone first came when John Smith stepped the half in two minutes, ten and three-fifths seconds. Smith was not pressed or the time might have been better.

In the pole vault Roelofson lost a tie for first by disqualifying himself on a passed height and was forced to be content with a tie for third.

The other Maryville men to place were: Miller in the 440, Cockayne in the 220, Roelofson in the high hurdles, Aley in the low hurdles and Kissinger in the high jump.

Trenton won the meet with 38½ points, winning both relays and setting a new mark in the mile relay of three minutes, 48 1-5 seconds, the old time being 3 minutes, 52 2-5 seconds.

Two other records fell in the meet, the quarter record falling from 55 2-5 seconds to 55 seconds and the mark for the mile being lowered from 5 minutes, 1 4-5 seconds to 5 minutes and 1 second.

J. B. Johnson of Slater won individual honors with four firsts and incidentally won for his school second place in the meet. Johnson was the only Slater entrant.

The following is the order in which the different schools finished. Eight teams failed to score a point.

Trenton	38½
Slater	20
Newark	19
Blanchard	13
Higginsville	12
Maryville	11½
Milan	10
Maysville	9
Kidder	9
Bethany	9
Plattsburg	7½
Gault	2½
Green City	2
Jameson	1

C. D. Bellows Chosen Head of Amer. Royal

Maryville Shorthorn Breeders Selected As President of Livestock Show to Be Held in K. C.

C. D. Bellows of this city was elected president of the American Royal Livestock show for 1923 at the annual election at the First National Bank in Kansas City yesterday afternoon. E. F. Swinney of Kansas City was elected vice-president. The show will be the week of November 17 to 24. At the meeting yesterday the directors made plans for accommodating 50 to 100 per cent more livestock exhibits than before. Mr. Bellows was also elected as a director of the association.

U. S. MAY QUIT THE SHIPPING BUSINESS

HARDING AND ADVISERS DECIDE TO SELL IF THEY CAN

MUST HAVE FAIR PRICE

If Impossible To Obtain a Fair Price Board Can Do Nothing But Continue Business

Washington, April 14. — "The government will get out of the shipping bpsiness if it can find purchasers for its ships and lines, if not it will continue in the business with as much economy as possible."

This decision was made today at a conference of President Harding, Chairman A. D. Lasker of the shipping board and the entire personnel of the board. The decision was announced as unanimous.

The agreement reached by the board provides for the immediate offering for sale all foreign trade lines with a provision that routes be maintained if a fair and just price can be secured. If a "fair price cannot be obtained then Harding and his shipping advisors have concluded that nothing is left for them to do but continue government operation under the provisions of the Jones Law.

Mexican Health Conditions Bad

Laredo, Tex., April 14—Surgeon-General Hugh S. Cumming of the United States Public Health Department, arrived here today following a trip of inspection of health condition along the Mexican borders. General Cumming said that the conditions in Mexico were such to warrant extra precaution being taken against the yellow fever here during the summer.

Mrs. Logan Wood and little son, Byron, came at noon today to visit over the week end at the homes of Misses Helen Hopkins and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hudson.

Many Odd Fellows Go to Savannah

A large number of Odd Fellows from Maryville went to Savannah yesterday to attend the convention of the Northwest Missouri Odd Fellows Association. The session last night lasted far into the morning as all four degrees were given. Among those from Maryville who attended were: Dr. S. S. Murdock, Frank Orcutt, Marion Smith, Harry King, W. D. Williams, Andy Cook, Dr. K. R. Malotte, Joseph Cornell, Amos Sprecher and the Rev. R. E. Snodgrass, who was on the program. Mrs. Marion Smith attended the Rebekahs meeting held at the same time, as a delegate from the lodge here.

The next meeting of the association will be held at Stewartsville in September.

International Health Board Doctor Is Here

Dr. F. L. Roberts, of the International Health Board of New York, arrived in Maryville yesterday for a visit with Dr. C. P. Fryer to inspect the health work being done in Nodaway County. Dr. Roberts visited a few schools in the county yesterday and was well pleased with the work being done here. He will be here until Wednesday when he will leave to observe the work being done at Sedalia.

Judge Clamps Down Lid in Gary, Ind.

Indianapolis, April 14—"I'll shut up the whole town of Gary if we have to, to stop liquor violations," Judge Albert Anderson said today after he had issued an order closing up four hotels for one year.

"I'm not going to get after the bootleggers and blind tiger operators and let the owners off," the judge continued. The hotels closed were in Jefferson. Fifty-five officials, politicians and other men of Gary and Lake County are awaiting the federal court ruling upon their plea for a new trial following their convictions to conspire to violate the liquor laws.

Leave for Home.

A. J. Anderson of Chugwater, Wyo., and his sister, Mrs. Flora Lowry of Blandinsville, Ill., left this morning for their homes after a two weeks' visit at the home of their brother, Henry Anderson, near Graham. Mrs. Lowry accompanied Mr. Anderson as far as Omaha and will visit relatives there and in Sioux City before returning home. Mr. Anderson came to Maryville April 1 with the body of his wife, who was buried here April 2.

JAPANESE IGNORE A U. S. ADMIRAL

WHEN AMERICAN FLEET HEAD WAS IN YOKOHAMA.

CONSPIRACY OF SILENCE

American in Tokio Charge That Papers Conspired—Act No Less Than An Insult.

Tokio, April 14—Charging a "conspiracy of silence," amounting to no less than in insult to Admiral Edwin Anderson, commander of American Asiatic fleet, prominent American in Tokio, led by the Japan Advertiser, American newspaper today asserted a conspiracy of concerned action of entire Tokio press in failing to mention Admiral Anderson during his week's stay in Yokohama.

Admiral Anderson's visit followed the visit of Admiral Leveson, chief of the British Asiatic fleet, and the contrast in greetings was marked. Admiral Leveson was given an audience by the prince regent and all honors given him by the press, pictures being taken depicting his daily movements.

When attention was called today to officials that Admiral Anderson was not granted an audience by the prince regent, it was explained that the court was in mourning over Prince Kita Shirakawa's death in France when the admiral arrived. The prince departed for Formosa immediately after the period of mourning, it was maintained and was impossible to arrange an audience. The Japan Advertiser said today in commenting upon the situation:

"It is not often that the Japanese are rude to a friendly stranger within its gates and seldom does the enlightened press fail to reflect the feelings of the people. Both were changed by the strange silence maintained last week. The silence of contempt is well known in the Orient and Occident."

Another De Valera Aid Is Captured

Boston Stack is Taken by Free Staters—Mountains Swept Clean of Irregulars, Claimed

Dublin, April 14—Boston Stack, one of Eamon De Valera's republican lieutenants, was captured near Klonmel today. Stack was a former member of the Irish delegation that negotiated the Anglo-Irish pact in London, but later deserted the Free State forces and cast his lot with the irregulars.

Despite the vigorous search of Free State troops, aided by airplanes, De Valera has apparently escaped into hiding into the Tipperary mountains according to unofficial information from the Free State headquarters here today.

The whole mountain district has been swept from end to end by six columns of Free State troops under General Prutt. Many secret hiding places of irregulars were found and many were captured but De Valera was not among them. Free State troops sent out word that not a single irregular was hiding in the mountains so thorough was their drive.

"The mountains are swept clean," said General Prutt. "Heavy rains in the mountains are making farther search difficult.

Westminster Boarding House Is Closed

Kansas City, April 14—The Westminster Boarding home, which has sheltered more than 1,000 women, who came here from small towns of the southwest, to "pay their own way," within the last decade has closed permanently.

The home was established in 1912, primarily for the purpose of affording young business women a dwelling abode with many comforts of a real home, according to Mrs. E. A. Forbes, former matron. During its lengthy period of helpfulness, the home was conducted under the auspices of a group of local church women and for some time has been self-supporting.

Its close was brought about in pursuance with an order of the owner of the property, who wishes to dispose of it.

THY KEEPER.—The Lord is thy keeper: the Lord is thy shade upon thy right hand.—Psalm 121:5.

HEALTH AND ACHIEVEMENT

Prominent among modern psychological movements, are various so-called health cults, which seek to improve peoples' physical conditions by correcting faults in their mental attitude. One would need to be a specialist in mental science to discuss these questions adequately.

Without going into controverted questions, it is evident that the state of a man's mind has a great influence over his body. The man who is worrying about some business or family matter sits down to his dinner table with a feeling of oppression and constraint. He does not feel the best appetite and it is only with difficulty that he can get down a meager fraction of his usual allowance of food.

If now while he is sitting at the table in this heartless way, the postman brings him a letter containing good news, and showing that the fears he had been entertaining are groundless, not merely is his mental attitude changed, but his body is instantly affected. Within five minutes he is attacking his roast beef with renewed relish, and he will put down a good dinner.

If a bit of good news can produce such radical change, he should be able to put himself on a permanently higher level physically, if he can get his mind in a serene and confident state by which he can throw off worry and look forward to the future in a sanguine way. He will be able to do more work and do it more intelligently. His prospects in life will be greatly improved. He will seem more attractive and persuasive to the people he meets, and will be able to carry on business and industry with double the efficiency and success.

The first step along the path in the psychology of success, then, is to conquer the fears and worries that destroy the efficiency of a multitude of people.

The hardest work some fellows do is in telling how hard they work.

Bootleg liquor may hurt the fellow's eyes who drinks it, but it helps everybody else to see his finish.

That Adrian bank cashier who took only four thousand dollars ought to be canned for working under the scale.

Practically all articles of common use are going higher as a direct result of the highest-of-all tariff laws now in effect.

Those of us who are not as important as we think we are can easily be more important than some others think we are.

Some one wants to know why we can't have more drastic laws relating to those who drive automobiles while intoxicated. The drunken driver is a serious affliction but when the prohibition laws are enforced, the drunken driver will disappear. The disease is cured when the cause is removed.

Day by day, in every way, the affairs of the Night and Day Bank in St. Louis get worse and worse. It is bad enough when the officers of a bank get away with a big part of its funds, but, when an officer of the state comes along and gets away with a big part of what is left, that seems to be about the limit.

This is the time of year to begin thinking about cultivating those vacant lots. The best way to keep weeds and unsightly and unhealthy growth down is to make something grow that is worthwhile. Why not plant potatoes or something like that in all the vacant lots? A cultivated crop of anything will look better than a crop of weeks and will be worth something when the season is over.

The Beukelsdjik, built in 1914, was an ocean-going whaleback, similar to many which are engaged in ore and grain carrying on the Great Lakes but of greater dimensions, having nine large cargo holds, each surmounted by an individual steel cargo derrick.

"Our Young Peoples Conference"

Say folks we had some conference,
Or you might'a called it fun,
For we had a dandy banquet,
And we came in on the run.

The ladies surely served us
With the best o' food and drink,
And I'll bet there wasn't one
Who came away a feelin' lank.

We had some good old 'tatters,
And a lot o' pie and cake,
With some salad and some dressing
Like the women always make.

We finished that good dinner,
Didn't even leave a scrap—
Then settled down to business
To put Nodaway on the map.

There were songs and yells a plenty,
Pageants, readings—speeches too.
Of course the boys were many,
But the girls weren't few.

So we had a little contest
Between the boys you see,
To find who could get twelve dates
In three minutes—only three!

Some made more, and others less,
For some boys, as you know,
Are kinda sorter bashful—
Some people call it slow.

Well now about the speeches;
They sure had a lot o' pep,
And if ever one does better,
They're gonna have to step.

The "Great Chief" picked some soldiers
"Dog Soldiers"—just a few,
And we were fairly warned:
"Be careful what you do."

The second day was better,
There was a monstrous crowd—
Enough to fill the building,
And it surly made us proud.

And the day dawned so serenely
That we wondered how we'd look,
If we all could get together
And have our pictures took.

So sure enough we did it,
Had 'em taken in a group,
Tho some were pessimistic,
Said, "They'll not be worth a whoop."

But after they were finished,
And scrutinized with care,
Each one was heard to comment:
"I'm the best one of 'em there."

Then about five o'clock that evening,
As we always do of course—
We had a bacon fry and ice cream,
And yelled 'till we were hoarse.

Next, after that was over
We beat it back to town,
Where we had our council circle,
And everybody gathered roun'.

Some were called before the dog court
For committing some sort of sin.
They were tried, some were guilty
And were punished with a pin.

I guess that's all about the conference,
At least tha't all I have to say—
So I'll end my little narrative,
But hope we'll meet another day.
—By Homer D. Williams.

Guests At Colbert Home

Herschel Colbert, editor of the Gallatin Democrat, is expected this evening for a week-end visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Colbert. Mrs. Walter Cranough of Indianapolis Ind., a cousin of Mrs. Colbert, is also a week-end guest at the Colbert home. Mrs. Cranough arrived in Maryville today from Des Moines, Ia., where she had been attending the fourth annual meeting of the National League of Women Voters.

What of America?

Shall This Government Live or Die?

The new king (George III), having the most exalted notion of his own authority, and being, from his miserable education, entirely ignorant of public affairs, thought that to tax the Americans for the benefit of the English would be a masterpiece of policy.—Thomas Henry Buckle, History of Civilization in England.

XI.

The King Decides to Teach America a Lesson.

The colonies followed up the action of the Stamp Act congress by forming associations to boycott English goods, and non-importation agreements came everywhere into effect. The English merchants were struck with dismay. To them a colony was a market, and nothing else. A closed market meant loss and ruin. They promptly brought pressure on parliament, and that body found itself between two fires. It met the situation by the adoption of a policy characteristic of the statesmanship of the times. It repealed the Stamp act to placate the clamoring traders at home, and at the same time passed a declaratory act asserting its right to tax the colonies if it wanted to. No principle was settled.

Parliament had acted as the ancient kings sometimes acted when put in a corner. They sometimes made concessions "of grace." By that they meant "I'm not doing this because I have to, but because I'm good natured. Now, run away and play."

Parliament was not long in testing its asserted powers. It soon passed an act to raise revenue on certain articles imported by the colonies, and to use this money to pay the salaries of colonial officials appointed by the crown. This was not only to tax the colonies, but to deprive them of the election and control of their own officials. The English government called this a civil list. The Americans saw in it the destruction of self government, and a pension roll, which they were to pay.

At the same time the king's government decided to punish New York for refusing to make provision for the maintenance of an English garrison, and suspended its legislature. As the other colonies had been making it as difficult as possible for the king's troops to find quarters, this action was a notice of what all might expect.

In Massachusetts Samuel Adams, whom the English and Tories called "Master Sam," in allusion to his early occupation, drew up a petition to the king which the assembly adopted, and urged the other colonies to support. This petition excited the indignation of the king, and the assembly was instructed to withdraw it. This it refused to do, and the assembly was suspended.

The Virginia burgesses suffered the same fate when the adopted resolutions aimed at parliament's taxing power.

The colonies were now in active correspondence; their attitude was resolute; the suspended assemblies came together again as popular conventions and a strong agitation continued everywhere against the new taxes and the presence of troops.

In the face of this opposition the ministers again tried their previous experiment; they decided to repeal the taxes but retain the principle. With this view they notified the colonies the port duties would be lifted on all the articles that had been named in the new act, except on tea. Tea was excepted to assert the principle. The colonies retorted by asserting a principle of their own, and refused to drink tea. A cargo sent to Boston was seized by some persons who were dressed like Indians but acted like Bostonians, and thrown overboard.

The English crown got $1,500 a year from this tax on tea and lost thirteen colonies.

Conflicts between citizens and soldiers now became frequent wherever the troops were quartered, the feeling culminating in what came to be known throughout the colonies as the "Boston Massacre" when a clash in the streets of that town resulted in the death of five civilians.

The clear fact that now must be recognized is that King George and those in his government who passed by the name of the "king's friends" were angry and had made up their minds, as a British historian puts it, to pay the colonies out. They meant to punish them. They proceeded to introduce in parliament, and parliament proceeded to pass with the most amazing levity, a series of penal measures against Boston and Massachusetts. The port was closed and additional regiments of troops sent to the city. The colony's charter was forfeited and in its place was instituted arbitrary crown rule. Town meetings were abolished. Juries were to be drawn by sheriffs who owned their places to the crown's favor. Citizens were, in specified cases, to be transported to England for trial, on the ground that justice was obstructed in the colony, notwithstanding that Boston had just given a signal illustration of the quality of its justice by acquitting, at the hands of a jury of its own citizens, the commanding officer of the troops that had fired on the people.

These penal measures, by which the king's government tossed away the fairest portion of the British empire, were put through a house of commons that jeered at and howled down the few voices that were raised in protest. George himself complacently fancied he had settled the whole vexing business. He had been talking to General Gage, who had assured him the Americans would yield.

"He says," the king wrote to Lord North, "they will be lyons whilst we are lambs; but if we take the resolute part, they will undoubtedly prove very weak."

"Blows," said the obstinate king, "must decide."

Blows did.

A radio musical program was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the hostesses. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Ellis were received as new members of the class.

"Lightning Justice" Is Served in W. Va.

Three Men Convicted For First Degree Murder in Five Days—One Sentenced to Death Already

Clarksburg, W. Va., April 14—A new brand of "lightning justice," was written across the legal records by the "mountain court" here today and as a result the third man in five days was convicted for responsibility in the black hand murders and violence here.

With a number of deputy sheriffs and policemen guarding, three men convicted of muredr are in jail awaiting a sentence of death as their share in the campaign of violence in West Virginia. Seven other men are in adjoining cells awaiting the fast work of the mountain justice.

"Nick" Salamente was sentenced to be hung this afternoon. He will be executed at the Moundsville state penitentiary on Friday June 22. When the sentence was read, he declared, "I will die innocent." The sentence was pronounced before a crowded courtroom.

Negotiations on for Sale of Coal Company

Bevier, Mo., April 14—Negotiations for the sale of the Central Coal and Coke company's properties are under way, according to a well-founded report here. The sum involved in the transportation is said to be around $11,000,000. At the present time it is said there is only a difference of $2,000,000, from closing the deal.

11-Year-Old Boy Will Finish School

Kansas City, Mo., April 14—Youthful friends of Angus McCallum, 11-year-old student, at the Bryan school, make the assertion that Angus will be the youngest pupil to be graduated this year from any of the grade schools of greater Kansas City.

The youngster doubts the superstition of thirteen. There are thirteen letters in his name and his birthday is November 13. The "boy wonder" as several of his associates refer to him has already announced his intention of entering the profession of surgery, when he completes his education. His burning ambition, as he expressed it, is to become one of the nation's prominent surgeons.

Lexington Has a Gasoline Tax of 1c

Lexington, Mo., April 14—Duplicating the action of Kansas City's legislative bodies, which recently approved the imposition of a cent and a half tax per gallon on gasoline, the city council of Lexington has passed an ordinance which requires the purchaser to pay a one cent per gallon tax. The new ordinance will become effective, May 15.

The revenue raised from this special tax will be donated to a bridge fund, city officials stated.

Fifty Years Ago

(Taken from the files of the Nodaway Democrat, April 17, 1873).

Judge Alderman is as busy as a bee with Probate Court this week. The session will probably continue until the last of the next week.

The Postmaster General has discontinued a number of mail routes in this state, because he considered the remuneration asked by the contractors too high. Route No. 10,968 from Oregon to Maryville, which was to take in Richville, Grant and Whig Valley, was not let for the reason stated.

The National Hotel after being thoroughly renovated, is again open for business, under the management of Joseph L. Smith, recently of the St. John's House.

Wash Downing last Saturday shipped from Hopkins to Chicago six car loads of cattle and hogs. Hopkins is said to be doing a good business, much better than it did this time last year.

We have been taught from our childhood that "April showers bring May flowers," but we are not able to say whether it applies to snow-showers, such as we have had during the past ten days.

A called meeting of the County Court takes place June 2d, to provide jurors for the July term of the Circuit Court, and to transact such business as may come before it. Under the new township law, the court will have to re-district the county and order an election for the new County Judges.

Twenty Years Ago

A fire wiped out one block of the principal part of Quitman April 4, causing a loss estimated at $45,000, partially covered by insurance. The fire started in a small barn owned by William Kraft. Ed E. Johnston is probably the heaviest loser, his loss amounting to $22,000, including building and contents. H. L. Givens' brick store building was the next heavy loss, amounting to $6,000. William Scruby & Co. stand a loss of $5,000. R. H. Smith's brick building and blacksmith shop was destroyed; loss about $2,000. The fire started about 1 a. m. and burned till early day, being fanned by a northwest wind.

J. B. Chamberlin, jeweler at Crane's for 28 years, has resigned the place and has gone to Cincinnati, Ohio, to make his home with his daughter, Mrs. Claude Snook.

The Sir Knights of Maryville Commandery No. 40 K. T. will attend Easter service next Sunday afternoon at the Presbyterian Church. Sermon by Rev. C. E. Kircher, the pastor.

D. E. Hotchkin has been made carrier on Route 1 from Maryville as the successor of Ernest Beech, resigned. There were four applicants. He made a grade of 97.

The millinery openings last Wednesday were gay and festive occasions. Mrs. D. J. Howell, the Yaple sisters, Mrs. G. E. Shelton and the firm of Gatewood & Price had announced their opening for that day. Millinery openings in Maryville are not common affairs but compare quite favorably with those in the city.

Communication

Editor Democrat-Forum:

Dear Sir: You have placed me under many obligations by your clever notice in yesterday's daily of my 18th business anniversary. However I beg a line or two in your paper to make a small correction. In your interview of yesterday, your reporter makes me say in substance that the reason there was no Democrat party ticket in the field at the date of the Republican Convention, Sept. 1866, was that the Democrats were all away from home in the rebel army. This statement if permitted to stand, might do violence to the feelings of some of our older worthy citizens. It is well known that the collapse of the Southern Confederacy occurred when Lee surrendered his army at Appomattox April 9, 1865. The confederate armies disbanded immediately so that at the date mentioned, 1866 there was no confederate army in existence. The statement attributed to me if true would be almost as sweeping and disrespectful as that one attributed to Horace Greely, editor of the New York Tribune, the leading republican news paper during the Civil war period, who in some of the bitter political contests when the Democratic organizations showed sympathy for the Confederacy. He is quoted as saying that "while it is true that all democrats are not horse thieves it is also true that all horse thieves are democrats."

But why as I started out to tell was there no democratic party ticket at the election in 1866. The state was at that time under the new or Drake Constitution adopted during the war which by its operation all those citizens who could not in conscience take the "test oath" administered to all voters that he had not participated in open rebellion or sympathized with those who had, was debarred from voting. As this class included all of the ex-Confederate soldiers and their sympathizers, quite a respectable body of citizens could not vote at the elections.

The futility of making a ticket is apparent. It was this question of the re-en franchisement of these citizens that rent the Republican State Convention of 1870 assunder and resulted in two republican tickets in the state at the election of that year, one known as the Liberal Republican, headed by Blwatz Brown for governor, favoring the re-en franchisement, won the election; the other faction, known as the radicals went down to defeat. This election won for Brown the vice-presidential nomination with Greely in 1872. The returned soldiers of the Union Army alligned themselves with the Liberal party, thus restoring to full political fellowship their late brothers in arms.

A little incident happened at out county election. Our fellow citizen and Comrade in the G. A. R., Judge I. K. Alderman was candidate for Probate Judge on the liberal republican ticket. His opponent on the radical ticket, D.L. Palmer, was on the first count of the ballots supposed to be elected and so elated over his supposed election was he that he rolled a big goods box out into the street, mounted it, called the bystanders about him, delivered a fine oration over the dead body of his political antagonist, Alderman, and at the same time thanked the voters for his election. Palmer went to the County Clerk's office next day to check over the votes which had not yet been certified and found an error of ten votes in his favor as shown by the returns. On eliminating these ten votes, he counted himself out and his antagonist, Alderman, had it. Had it not been for Palmer's discovery of the error which counted him out, our fellow townsman, Judge Alderman, may never have been a Judge at all. On such slender threads as these hang the destinies of men.

Respectfully,
NATHANIEL SISSON.

Became An Important Dairy Center

Kansas City, Kan., April 14—Due largely to its civic pride and the refusal of its citizens to accept the dictums of fate, the municipality of Fort Scott, Kan., was saved from ruin and has now become one of the most important dairy centers in the United States.

This was the story related to the Kiwanis club of this city by C. B. Griffith, attorney general of Kansas, in an address delivered recently.

"When the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad shops were transferred from here to Parson, Kan.," Griffith said "the city resigned itself to its apparent doom. Fort Scott had depended upon these shops for its commercial importance. But the submissive resignation of the populace was short-lived.

"The young men of the city organized themselves into a Commercial club, and soon were urging citizens and farmers to utilize their resources.

"Farmers were admonished to use their grazing lands for the development of high grade dairy cattle. Other people were urged to handle dairy products. The Commercial club sponsored the movement for better roads and these were ultimately constructed, making it possible for farmers to bring their dairy products into the city with only slight difficulty."

And, today, Fort Scott is enjoying the fruition of its labors, Griffith pointed out. It is booming.

W. W. Gordon, newly elected mayor, also addressed the assemblage, confining his remarks to the necessity of law enforcement.

School Heads of Holt County Fight

Former Superintendent to Give Way to Woman Newly Elected.

Oregon, Mo., April 14.—When Mrs. Mary Guilliams, recently elected superintendent of the Holt County schools applied at the office to assume her duties, Norty Lily, who had been superintendent for the term just ended, refused to give her possession, alleging that Mrs. Guilliams, although having received a majority of votes at the recent election, does not possess the requisite qualifications to fill the office.

The campaign recently waged in Holt County for the office of county superintendent of schools was very spirited and considerable newspaper space was used to place the merits of the candidates before the voters.

Mrs. Guilliams lives at Craig and is one of the popular school teachers of that neighborhood. She won the election over Earl A. Rock by a majority of 608.

In qualifying, Mrs. Guilliams met all the following requirements: She had taught two terms of school out of the preceding four; she was 24 years old; was a citizen of the state and county; she possessed a first grade county teacher's certificate; she was legally elected.

Her bond was for $3,000.

Mr. Liley has taken the position that the certificate issued to her by Mrs. Alberta Green Murphy, former county superintendent, was not in strict conformity to the law.

W. E. Bissett, county attorney, applied to the county court, and Philip Schlotzhauer and W. J. Glass, two members of the court, granted a temporary injunction restraining Mr. Liley from conducting the affairs of the office until the matter is settled in court.

In the meantime Mrs. Guilliams is the recognized county superintendent.

McCormick Sanctions Daughter's Marriage

Chicago, April 14—Further confirmation of the International News exclusive announcement yesterday of the wedding of Mathilde McCormick and Major Max Oser in England was discovered today in the form of a cablegram dispatche dby Harold McCormick, father of Mathilde to his wife, Ganna Walska in Paris. The message revealed that the marriage took place on April 12 and also that Mathilde had the blessing of her father after all. The Harvester magnate has been persistently silent regarding the plans of his 18-year-old daughter and her 45-year-old suitor, but the cablegram to Ganna read:

"Mathilde married April 12. Such a happy day. Love." It was signed, "Harold," and is a denial that there has been an estrangement between McCormick and his operatic bride.

Two Killed in Berlin Planes

Berlin, April 14—Two men were killed and two others were seriously injured in airplanes flying over the city today during the opening of the Temple Heefer, air port, the planes crashing to the ground. The pilot of one machine and a Berlin official was instantly killed.

Rules for Teachers Training Certificates

Instructions Received by L. G. Somerville From Charles A. Lee, State Superintendent.

Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent of schools, has received a circular letter from Charles A. Lee, state superintendent of schools, setting out the rules and regulations for graduates of first class high schools for teacher training certificates.

The following are the rules and regulations:

Since sending out the circular letter relative to graduates of first class high schools, I find that it is imperative that we have the following rules and regulations governing same:

1. All students who receive the teacher training certificates this way must rank among the upper two-thirds of the class. This certificate will not be granted to inferior students.

2. The following units of high school work will be required of all students who expect to receive the Teacher Training Certificates by attending summer school in 1923. English four units, Mathematics two units, History two units, one of which must be American, High Sheool Agriculture, and Science, one unit.

All students who graduate from a first class high school the spring of 1923 with the above requirements may obtain the Teachers Training Certificates by going to summer school and making ten hours in Education. All persons who are taking the teacher training course now will finish their course the same as usual. The teacher training examinations will be held with the regular teachers examinations the first Friday and Saturday in June.

Beginning September 1, 1923, the following rules and regulations must be carried out in order that the high school graduates may go to summer school and receive the teacher training certificate.

1. All high school teachers must have 70 hours of College work and all grade teachers must have 40 hours of College work. These apply to all new teachers hired in the system. All teachers in the system now, may be re-employed even though they haven't the number of hours as stated above, provided they go to summer school and make at least 8 hours of work. This requirement does not disqualify anyone from holding their present position.

2. Before the starting of school this fall a definite course will be outlined for all high school students who expect to receive the Teachers Training Certificate by going to summer school to do their professional work.

Of the ten hours, five will be required, which are as follows:

Rural School Methods, 2½ hours.
Observation, 2½ hours.

The other five hours will be elected from the following groups:

Introductory Educational Psychology, 2½ hours. Rural Sociology, 2½ hours. School economy, 2½ hours. Educational Sociology, 2½ hours.

No Bid for Court House Bond Received

Caruthersville, Mo., April 14—The county court of Pemiscot county is perplexed.

Several months ago the supreme court handed down a decision ordering the county court to "proceed without further delay or excuse to sell the bonds and erect a new court house."

The bonds were prepared and advertised but there were no bidders. Now the court is wondering what to do.

Irish Sympathy Plot Is Unearthed

London, April 14—Documents indicating Irish republican sympathisers in London plan to attack the light, power and subway stations and the delivery from the jails here of Irish prisoners, and plans for the assasinations of some high British officials, were siezed by the police today in raids throughout London. A number of the men were questioned but only two were detained by Scotland Yards. One of the documents gave a detailed plan of a London prison in which there were Irish prisoners. Another gave the detailed information of a police patrol. Others showed plots of residences of some high British officials.

Blind Man's Buff

EVEN in this age of enlightenment some folks spend their money blindly. They buy with their eyes shut. They grope in the dark as truly as if their eyes were bandaged.

And all the time a powerful light is being thrown on the very things they need and want!

Advertising is a beacon to guide you in buying. It shows you what to buy—where to buy—and when to buy. At the same time, it protects you against fraud and inferiority.

Merchants and manufacturers who advertise deliberately focus thousands of eyes upon their wares. Their values must be honest and their prices right, or they could not advertise successfully.

Don't play blind man's buff with the elusive dollar. Spend a few minutes each day running through the advertisements in this paper. Then buy the products that have proved up in the light of advertising.

O. A. Stanley, Sheridan Breeder "Barely Missed" Being a Lawyer

Sheridan, Mo.—It was about this time of year when a trunk was unloaded one bright, sunshiny day in front of a rooming house near an Iowa university. Students living there denied they had ordered a trunk. But the expressman was positive as to his instructions and left the trunk.

A few minutes later A. O. Stanley, law student, entered. His associates told ihm about the trunk.

"Sure," he said. "It's my trunk, I'm going home. I can't stay in school such weather as this."

It was thus that spring fever ruined a law student. For Stanley, now of Sheridan, Mo., went back to his father's farm and purebred livestock. He never could be lured from agriculture to oppressive law books again.

The elder Stanley traded some horses to the late C. C. Norton of Corning, Ia., for some purebred Shorthorns. Among them was a fine bull, then growing nicely, that came to the Stanley farm weighing 1400 pounds.

A Bull Responded to Good Care

To young Arthur the father entrusted the task of feeding that bull and fitting him for sale three months later. Theyoungster had the bull weighing 1,720 pounds. He topped the sale. Norton complimented the youth on his method of feeding. That settled it. Stanley knew he was going to grow purebred livestock.

In 1898 the family moved to Sheridan. A year later the young breeder bought four heifers and a good bull. The latter cost $550 a lot of money in those days, even for a good bull.

In three years eleven head of the get of that bull had been sold, the cheapest for $200 and one for $260. The herd thus started was dispersed in 1905 when Stanley bought the home farm and needed money.

But in a short time he was buying purebred stock again, getting good, but not fancy cows, and buying again a fine bull. That herd also proved profitable. Good bulls continued to improve it. In 1916 the entire herd was sold to Bellows Bros., Maryville, Mo., breeders.

Now Has His Third Herd

Then a third herd was assembled, still better blood being sought. It now numbers sixty head. Advance Marshall, later sold to Sni-a-Bar Farms, was bought to head it. It was bought at high prices; but it is making some money.

The prices brought by the Stanley bred animals tell the result of his efforts. His cattle brought the high money at the congress sale in Chicago a few years ago. Two years ago it brought the high average at the Central Shorthorn sale in Kansas City after winning the cups at the Central show preceding the sale. Last year his herd brought the high average without the cups. In the 1923 show his stock won championships and his bull brought the highest price at the sale.

Stanley has a son, 15 now in high school. Before he entered high school the father bought a heifer costing $100 for his son, telling the youngster that heifer would have to pay his way through school.

From Heifer Almost $2,000

The first calf was a heifer. Her second calf was the champion of the 1921 Central sale at Kansas City, bringing $800, the top price for the sale. The third calf solf for $510 in 1922. This year a junior calf sold for $175. The heifer that was the first calf meanwhile produced a roan bull that sold for $400. Her second calf was a heifer, increasing the female side of the herd to three head. That was in April 1922.

"That makes almost $1,885 realized from the sale of calves from that heifer besides the increasing of his herd to three times its original size," Stanley explained. "How many men could do that for their boys. And it can't help but give them an interest in good livestock."

The Stanley Shorthorns must be milk producers. The ultimate market for cattle is the farm. If the livestock standards are to be raised it must be done on the farm, he believes. And the farmer demands milk.

Breeders Must Consider Farmers

"At farm sales purebred cows that are known as good milkers bring almost double the prices paid for others," he said. "The breeders must look to the ideal farm cow. She must be a good milker."

According to men who attend the sales where Stanley's cattle are sold, the Stanley cattle always are good ones, always are well fitted and always bring good prices. The first two facts may have a bearing on the case.—Kansas City Star.

Red Cross Spent 70 Millions for Soldiers

St. Louis, April 14—The American Red Cross spent a total of more than $70,000,000 for rendering service to American soldiers during the war, according to a statement received at the headquarters of the southwestern division here by manager Starr Cadawaller.

The largest amount was in 1918-1919, over $14,000,000 being spent by the national organization and $9,500,000 by the chapters. This has decreased gradually until 1922-1923, when the estimated figure is $2,440,000 expended by the national organization and $4,600,000 by the chapters. This statement was given out as a refutation of the charge that the Red Cross no longer is doing any work for former soldiers.

The same statement said that 26,000 veterans still in hospitals are served by the Red Cross and that this number will gradually increase until about 35,000 men will be under treatment in the Veterans' hospitals in the next two years.

The figures in regard to the number of ex-service men under treatment were obtained by the Red Cross from the United States Veterans' Bureau, an organization with which the Red Cross is in close co-operation.

Rooms! Rooms!
Rooms! More Rooms!

600 to 800 beds will be needed to take care of the contestants during the "TRACK MEET," April 26, 27 and 28.

In order to have enough beds to take care of all of the contestants it will be necessary for Maryville people to open up their homes more generally than ever before.

Please phone in your list to the Chamber of Commerce, Hanamo 639, Farmers 120, if possible before next Wednesday, because we will turn this list over to the committee on assignments at the College, who will assign the rooms to the different schools, send the assignments to the Superintendent and notify you who has been assigned to your home.

It will save much confusion if you will arrange to have someone at home when trains arrive in Maryville.

Do not take people other than those for whom you have listed rooms for the College unless you have more beds for rent than those engaged for the contestants.

Price of rooms to be 50c per night for each occupant.

A CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN FOR CITY

PLANS FOR SUCH CAMPAIGN WILL BE TAKEN UP MONDAY.

ALSO TO BEAUTIFY TOWN

By Urging Residents to Put in Flowers, Shrubbery and Plant a Tree.

A campaign to clean up and beautify Maryville will be taken up at the weekly dinner of the Chamber of Commerce to be held Monday evening at the Bainum Hotel. At this meeting a day for the purpose of cleaning up the city will be set. Mayor W. O. Garrett and Councilmen Gus Romasser and Howard Strong will attend the dinner and will tell what the city will do about hauling off the rubbish and also about other beautification plans.

The purpose of the meeting is not only to discuss plans for cleaning up back yards but also to beautify front yards as well as parkways. Prof. C. C. Leeson, head of the biology department of the State Teachers College, Alfred Engelmann, Earl Kissinger and Geo. R. Murray will suggest plans for beautifying yards.

As the annual contests at the State Teachers College are only ten days off Maryville wants to present a good appearance to her many visitors who will be here at that time.

The various clubs of the city will be represented at the dinner and will take part in the discussion of plans for this campaign. The Rev. Joseph A. Cooper will preside at the meeting.

Editors Speak Highly of Maryville

Editor of Mound City and Editor Bennett of Bolckow Write About Chamber of Commerce Banquet

Editor Howard W. Mills of the Mound City News-Jeffersonian had the following this week about the annual banquet of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce:

Editors A. E. Aebersold of the Maitland Herald, and H. W. Mills, of the Mound City News-Jeffersonian, were guests of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce at their annual banquet Tuesday night. The event was a splendid success in every way and the Holt county editors can attest to the cordial hospitality which has been an important factor in putting Maryville on the map as a city that undertakes and does things on a big scale.

Dr. Waters, editor of the Kansas City Weekly Star, was the principal after dinner speaker, and gave a very inspiring, informative address. G. A. Pickens, the executive secretary of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce gave a brief report of the work accomplished by that body during the past and preceding years, and it is certainly a record of which any city may feel proud. Fred Wolfers, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presided in a very able and intertaining manner.

It is team work, organized and efficient, that makes good towns like Maryville, and this fine spirit of co-operation and service has benefited not only Maryville, but the whole of Nodaway county and northwest Missouri.

Editor J. I. Bennett of the Bolckow Herald had the following in his paper about the banquet:

The Herald man and son, Noel, were the guests of the Chamber of Commerce of Maryville at a banquet given by them Tuesday at the Residence Hall dining room of the State Teachers College. There were over 300 enjoyed the meal and besides a few short talks by toastmaster, F. R. Wolfers, secretary Geo. A. Pickens and Uel W. Lamkin, a splendid address was enjoyed from Dr. Henry J. Waters, editor of the Kansas City Weekly Star.

The Maryville Chamber of Commerce is composed of a live set of business men, and they have for their secretary, Geo. A. Pickens, a live wire and surely adapted for the position he holds. We enjoyed the occasion very much.
